DETAILED ACTION

Applicants' preliminary amendment dated 07/18/2003 has been received and entered.

By the amendment, claims 15-24 are now pending in the application.

Priority

1. This application appears to be a division of Application No. 09/276,524, filed 03/25/1999. A later application for a distinct or independent invention, carved out of a pending application and disclosing and claiming only subject matter disclosed in an earlier or parent application is known as a divisional application or "division." The divisional application should set forth only that portion of the earlier disclosure which is germane to the invention as claimed in the divisional application.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the a voltage for switching off the data/scanning line inspection-use switching elements while the LCD panel is driven (claims 15-16); external circuit wire connected to the data line inspection-use control signal line (claims 17-18) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 23-24 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. In particular, claims 23-24 recite a limitation of "a plurality of non-linear elements" while based claims 21-22 recite a non-linear element.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 15 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shimada et al., US Patent No. 5,576,730.

Regarding claims 15 and 17, Shimada et al. disclose an active matrix type liquid crystal display (LCD) panel in which an active matrix substrate (figure 1) comprising:

- . a substrate (22);
- . switching elements (4);
- . pixel electrodes (3);
- . data lines (2) and scanning lines (1) arranged in a matrix form;
- . data line inspection-use switching elements (7);

Art Unit: 2871

. data line inspection-use display signal lines (19);
. data line inspection-use control signal lines (20);
. an external circuit (6) having ground wire (GND), switching off control wire (X1, X2, ...) connected to the data line inspection-use control signal line and voltage supplying wire (VDD);
. switching off the data line inspection-use switching elements while the LCD panel is driven (see figure 4).

Shimada et al. do not disclose an opposing substrate. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the time of the invention was made to employ an opposing substrate over an active matrix substrate with a liquid crystal layer therebetween in order to complete an LCD cell.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 16, 18, 20 and 22 are allowed.
7. Claims 19, 21 and 23-24 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
8. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:
none of prior art disclose nor make obvious an active matrix LCD panel having a scanning line inspection system comprising scanning line inspection-use switching elements, a scanning line inspection-use control signal line, an inspection-use scanning signal lines system as set forth in claim 16.
